Early Intervention

- The EI Coordinator submitted the requested information for our current state compliance indicator 'timely receipt of services' (TRS) for their review. The state requested information from one EI record.
- The EI Coordinator was invited to participate in an after-hours presentation at the Goddard School-Medina to share information with any interested families about Medina's Early Intervention program.
- Beginning on 4/1, all initial and annual IFSPs will be held in-person with the Service Coordinator, PSP, and the family; except for unique circumstances, as directed by the state.
- Our Spring Toddler Playgroup was a huge success. We had approximately 60 participants during our one-hour event at the Brunswick Library. We are already in the planning stages for summer!

Advocacy

- Meeting: On 4/29, the Advocacy Meeting was held at Midwest. We had 24 individuals from AC Passage attend, along with eight from Midwest. The theme was to paint a picture of a time when they advocated for themselves, or a free expression of how they felt when they advocated. It was amazing to see the expressions they created such as a representation of their ISP meeting. Their artwork is on display in the main hallway showcase, located across from the Assistive Technology room.

- People Together: There were no People Together programs in the month of April; however, May will have multiple presentations. There are four Fridays in a row scheduled to wrap up the school year. We have also welcomed new Advocates to assist us in working with the youth; educating them on kindness and acceptance.
- Leadership Academy: The first class with the new group was held 4/22. We have another four Advocates who are ready to jump right in to become great leaders. We started with introductions to get to know each other, set our class guidelines, and began going over our curriculum: what makes a good leader, characteristics of a leader, including a fun activity to work on listening, communication, and trust. A special thank you goes out to James Fox, President & CEO of Community Action Wayne/Medina, who came and spoke on different types of leadership styles; he fielded a lot of really good questions from the candidates. Our second class takes place on 5/20, where we will begin working on Personal Profiles.

Provider Support

DSP Spotlight
Darlene Toth, was recognized as the May DSP Spotlight. Darlene has been working as an Independent Provider for 12 years. Darlene was nominated by a parent of an individual who has received NMT Services from Darlene for the past three years. This what she had to say about Darlene: "She has developed a wonderful, supportive relationship with both my son and myself. Her service is accommodating and timely. She has a beautiful sense of humor, which my son will share with us, which is a rarity because he does not communicate something unless it has made a BIG impact on him." When asked, what is your favorite part of being a Direct Support Professional? Darlene responded "My favorite thing about spending time with the people I serve would have to be the smiles on their faces. I look forward to that then I know I'm doing my job." Congratulations, Darlene!!!

Medina, Ohio - The Medina County Board of Developmental Disabilities (MCBDD), in collaboration with the Medina County Career Center (MCCC) and the Ohio Alliance of Direct Support Professionals (OADSP), proudly recognized the latest graduating class of the Direct Support Professional University (DSP-U) program on Thursday, April 17.

Held at the Career Center, the ceremony honored students who have completed a rigorous and nationally recognized training program designed to prepare them for meaningful careers supporting individuals with developmental differences.

"This group of students has shown a remarkable commitment to making a real difference in the lives of others. Their dedication and compassion give me great hope for the future of direct support services in our community," said Stacey Maleckar, Superintendent of MCBDD. "The demand for skilled, compassionate professionals in this field has never been greater. Programs like DSP-U are essential to building a strong, prepared workforce ready to support people with disabilities in achieving their goals."

DSP-U introduces students to a high-demand, high-impact career path. Through the program, students gain hands-on experience, classroom instruction, and the opportunity to earn the Certificate of Initial Proficiency (CIP). This credential allows graduates to immediately step into roles as direct support professionals, a field projected to see continued growth in the coming years, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

The program also benefits local service providers by connecting them with a talent pool of already-trained and credentialed professionals. Internship partnerships with several local organizations offer students real-world experience while helping to fill critical workforce gaps in the county. The success of DSP-U in Medina County underscores the importance of community collaboration and innovation in addressing workforce challenges in the disability services field.

"Watching these students grow, not just in their skills but in their passion for this work, has been incredibly rewarding," said Pam Wheeler, MCBDD Health Services Coordinator and the driving force behind DSP-U's launch in Medina County. "This program is changing lives—not just for the students, but for the individuals they'll go on to support."

“These grants are essential to help health departments around Ohio fight mosquito-borne diseases,” Ohio Environmental Protection Agency Director Designate John Logue said. “The funding provides education, outreach and necessary equipment to better protect all Ohioans.”

During Tuesday’s meeting, Conrad and the Medina County commissioners also briefly spoke about state Issue 2 on the May 6 ballot, which would renew the State Capital Improvement Program.

The State Capital Improvement Program, administered by the Ohio Public Works Commission, is a state-local government partnership program that funds local infrastructure projects in Ohio communities.

If passed, state Issue 2 would authorize the state to issue bonds or other obligations to finance or help fund public infrastructure capital improvements for local governments and other governmental entities. The proposed amendment limits bond issuance to $2.5 billion over 10 years.

The Medina County commissioners passed a resolution in early March, formalizing their endorsement for state Issue 2’s passage, renewing the State Capital Improvement Program.

The Medina County commissioners’ resolution states that in the nearly 40 years of the program’s existence, it has provided more than $7 billion to local municipalities for improvements to roads and bridges, wastewater treatment, water supply and stormwater infrastructure throughout Ohio.

Medina County Commissioner Steve Hambley previously said that within the last 10 years, approximately 75 projects have been funded in Medina County. The projects focused on the roadways and water and sewer.

As Conrad talked about the annual report, he said several projects from 2024 used funds from state Issue 2.

“It is something that has benefited every community here in the county,” Conrad said. “All 17 townships, the cities, the villages, have all been beneficiaries of grants through that program.”

KNOW

All the Ways Your Child Grows

HEIGHT AND WEIGHT

these are two ways used to keep track of a child's growth. The truth is growth is measured in many ways. In fact, in the first three years of life, a child's brain develops faster than at any other time. That is why early moments matter in development.

The way children talk, play and interact with others gives important clues about development; these are developmental milestones.

A delay is when a child does not reach milestones in the same basic age range as other children.

Doctors check milestones at well-child visits or if a parent has concerns about their child's development. If a concern does arise, a health care professional will use a screening to look for possible delays. If a delay is confirmed, contacting an Early Intervention Services program for help may be the next step.

Although parents may have fears about labeling a child, the earlier help is found, the better the chance for improving a child's future success. The good news is with early action, doctors, parents and early intervention specialists can work together to give a child the best chance to getting back on the right track.

Early Intervention is Key!

UPCOMING DATES

MCBDD offers Safety Town for children with special needs

The Medina County Board of Developmental Disabilities will host its annual Safety Town Plus+ program at the Medina County Achievement Center, 4691 Windfall Rd., in Medina, from June 23-27.

Children with developmental differences from across Medina County are invited to participate in a five-day program with each day focusing on a specific safety lesson: traffic safety, fire safety, gun safety, calling 911, bike safety and animal safety.

Typical Safety Towns provide hands-on safety education for children. The MCBDD's program offers all the typical fun plus the extra help some children with developmental differences may need.

Designed for children in grades K-1 with special needs, this program has activities, games, stories and crafts to encourage (in a fun way) how to stay safe and make good choices during emergencies.

MCBDD's Safety Town Plus+ modifies instructions and creates multi-sensory activities to give students the best chance to practice important safety skills. MCBDD will be working together with the Medina County Sheriff's Department and a variety of other local first responders and volunteers for this week-long event.

Dinkelbach is a 32-year member and past president of the Kirtland Bird Club of Northeast Ohio. He has surveyed Richfield Heritage Preserve as part of the Greater Akron Audubon Society's bird census and has witnessed 71 species there. He has participated in bird walks in the greater Cleveland area and the Cuyahoga Valley National Park.

The hikes will be held rain or shine, so dress for the weather. Binoculars are recommended. While the event is free and open to the public, attendees are asked to RSVP via Eventbrite at: 2025MigratoryBirdHike.eventbrite.com. Walk-ins are welcome. Visit friendsofhrhp.org for event updates. ∞

All the Ways Your Child Grows

Height and weight - are two ways we may use to keep track of a child's growth. The truth is growth can be measured in many ways. In fact, in the first three years of life, a child's brain develops faster than at any other time. That is why early moments really matter in their development.

The way young children talk, play and interact with others gives important clues about their development. Experts call these developmental milestones. A developmental delay is when a child does not reach milestones in the same basic age range as other children.

Doctors check milestones at well-child visits or if a parent has concerns about their child. If a concern does arise, a health care professional may use a screening to look for causes and delays. If concerns are confirmed, it may lead to calling an early intervention services program for help.

Although parents fear labeling a child, the earlier help is found, the better the chance for improving a child's future success. The good news is with early action, doctors, parents and early intervention specialists can work together to get a child back on the path to reaching their developmental milestones.

For information about developmental milestones, call MCBDD Early Intervention Services, 330-725-7751, option 1

Six 2025 DSP-U graduates were recognized for their completion and graduation from the DSP-U program held at the Medina County Career Center, made possible by a partnership with the Medina County Board of DD and several local service provider agencies.

DSP U. graduates its 2025 class

The Medina County Board of Developmental Disabilities (MCBDD), in collaboration with the Medina County Career Center (MCCC) and the Ohio Alliance of Direct Support Professionals (OADSP), proudly recognized the latest graduating class of the Direct Support Professional University (DSP-U) program on Thursday, April 17.

Held at the Career Center, the ceremony honored students who have completed a rigorous and nationally recognized training program designed to prepare them for meaningful careers supporting individuals with developmental differences.

"This group of students has shown a remarkable commitment to making a real difference in the lives of others," Stacey Maleckar, Superintendent of MCBDD, said. "Their dedication and compassion give me great hope for the future of direct support services in our community. The demand for skilled, compassionate professionals in this field has never been greater. Programs like DSP-U are essential to building a strong, prepared workforce ready to support people with disabilities in achieving their goals."

DSP-U introduces students to a high-demand, high-impact career path.

Through the program, students gain hands-on experience, classroom instruction and the opportunity to earn the Certificate of Initial Proficiency (CIP). This credential allows graduates to immediately step into roles as direct support professionals, a field projected to see continued growth in the coming years, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

The program also benefits local service providers by connecting them with a talent pool of trained and credentialed professionals. Internship partnerships with several local organizations offer students real-world experience while helping to fill critical workforce gaps in the county. The success of DSP-U in Medina County underscores the importance of community collaboration and innovation in addressing workforce challenges in the disability services field.

"Watching these students grow, not just in their skills but in their passion for this work, has been incredibly rewarding," said Pam Wheeler, MCBDD Health Services Coordinator and the driving force behind DSP-U's launch in Medina County. "This program is changing lives – not just for the students, but for the individuals they'll go on to support."

LINCOLN

From A1

Lincoln Elementary School Principal Laura Maslyk said the project will help students learn through hands-on activities.

"This is going to be a great space for our kiddos, grades K through four, approximately 200 students, to get outside and experience science hands on," she said. "We have a newly adopted science curriculum, so our teachers have really poured through their standards and found activities and supplemental materials to support outdoor learning that align with our standards for the school district."

Maslyk said teachers have gotten on board with the outdoor lab and students are excited for the opportunity to take learning outside.

"We consider it an extension of our indoor classroom," she said. "Kids will be supervised in that area. Great learning can happen outdoors too, especially in science."

The planning commission approved the proposed outdoor learning laboratory at Lincoln Elementary, allowing the school to create the space for use in educating the school's students through hands-on activities.
